

energy, thermonuclear power would provide the material basis for rapidly accelerating the standard of living of the world's population beyond that currently experienced only among the most skilled layers of capitalist society.

Initial expenditures on the order of 15 to 20 billions of dollars will be necessary in order to maximize the rate of progress during the primary five year research and development phase. Based on the knowledge of leading physicists and other specialists collaborating with the Labor Committees, there is no reasonable doubt that with the mobilization of industrial and scientific resources on a world-wide scale, pilot fusion power plants will become operational by the end of this decade and find significant application to the world economy throughout the 1980s. The mere commitment to such a development program removes the need to restrict current consumption of existing energy resources.

The same Rockefeller-led multinational interests, who have imposed a Malthusian crisis of shortages and de facto technological stagnation on the peoples of the world in order to insure their continued dominance of the world economy, systematically have sabotaged the development of controlled thermonuclear fusion.

Fusion Suppressed Since 1952

Ever since the first hydrogen fusion device was exploded at Eniwetok Atol in 1952, scientists have known that energy could be produced with fusion. The only method to produce net energy, high density inertial confinement--the same system used in the H-bomb--has been totally suppressed with respect to its peaceful applications. To produce controlled fusion with this approach, the atom bomb (which is used to spark the fusion process in H-bombs) would be replaced by an electrical spark or burst of laser light. Since the largest conceivable spark or light burst could "burn" only less than a milligram of fusion fuel (enough to create the equivalent impact of a fire cracker), such a system does not have weapons applications.

Three areas of scientific information important to developing laser or electrical beam fusion have been kept classified: (1) The computer program used at Lawrence Livermore Lab to simulate hydrogen bombs and based on the Monte Carlo method; (2) The actual data from H-bomb explosions and the theoretical implications of the results; (3) Target design of the pellet of fusion fuel which would be compressed and then ignited by the spark or burst of laser light. The minute amount of research on target design is what will be declassified at the Albuquerque meeting.

UAW GOONS ATTACK LABOR PARTY; WORKERS RESPOND NATIONALLY

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (IPS)--Yesterday 18 United Auto Workers goons led by the president of UAW local 1435 attacked a Labor Party electoral rally outside the Toledo Chrysler plant in Perrysburg, Ohio. One Labor Party member is in the hospital with a broken nose and three broken teeth.

ALSO yesterday at a select meeting of newspaper and wire service editors in San Francisco, Nelson Rockefeller ripped off his mask with his declaration of war against the Soviet Union. Violently attacking the Soviets, Rockefeller lied that the Soviets "conned the United States" on the 1972 wheat deal, and he encouraged the assembled press to explore for ways to "make capitalism work" and foist the 1974 Oil Hoax on the world.

Rocky's hired hand Leonard Woodcock, President of the UAW, is following Rockefeller's lead with the most vicious attack on the United States working class since the McCarthy era. Six weeks of intensifying harassment coordinated against the International Caucus of Labor Committees and the working class both here and in Europe were capped by yesterday's Toledo attack. Woodcock is trying to launch another red-scare witchhunt in the labor movement, trying with this assault to terrorize the working class away from politics and into submission to Rockefeller's slave-labor mills.

This effort to gear up an anti-communist witchhunt is being directed out of the Trilateral Commission, the Rockefeller family's supranational fascist shadow-government, on which sit David Rockefeller, I. W. Abel of the United Steel Workers, several European trade union officials--and Leonard Woodcock.

National Pattern

The nationally coordinated scope of this attack is obvious: Yesterday at the same time as the Labor Party rally in Toledo was attacked, three Labor Committee members were arrested during a Labor Party electoral rally near Buffalo at the Ford Hamburg auto plant in Hamburg, New York on a "parking violation." Incredibly, bail was set at $150 and one organizer was held in jail overnight!

Sept. 25 at a UAW "Health and Safety" conference in Cleveland, Ohio UAW subregional representative Yates and three goons assaulted Labor Committee members during a press conference given by Woodcock, hitting the organizers in full view of the press and Leonard Woodcock. Yesterday the Perrysburg-Toledo police illegally refused to accept charges pressed by the hospitalized Labor Party member against the UAW goons in this most recent attack.

UAW Blunder

In yesterday's Toledo attack the UAW made a serious blunder. While TV cameras from WTOL-TV (a CBS Toledo affiliate) ground away and with a legal observer on hand, UAW local 1435 president John Sedlock and his 18 goons--all with UAW local 1435 badges prominent on their jackets--charged a legal electoral rally of Labor Party members which included one autoworker. Throughout the attack, although police were nowhere to be found, Perrysburg police chief McGriffin was watching the episode from inside the plant on the in-plant security camera! UAW bureaucrats around the country are growing painfully aware of the magnitude of this mistake as angry workers call them to demand that they stop interfering with the political rights of the working class.

Exactly one week before the Toledo attack, Labor Committee National Chairman Lyn Marcus testified before the Senate Rules and Administration Committee opposing the confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller as Vice President.

Despite tight press black-out of the testimony, orchestrated by CBS-TV, American workers understand fully that the National Caucus of Labor Committees/U.S. Labor Party is the only organizing force fighting to stop Rockefeller. The UAW's blunder yesterday is a frantic effort to prevent industrial workers from linking up with this political movement.

Press Black-Out

National network CBS-TV is leading the centralized press black-out of the internationally significant Toledo news story. WTOL-TV, a CBS affiliate, aired its film of the attack twice. The first time the coverage was honest and straightforward; the second time, a few hours later, the coverage began with local president Sedlock declaring: "The UAW has been fighting communism for 30 years." Although WTOL sent the film to CBS national headquarters in New York City last night--and CBS in New York has acknowledged to Labor Party callers its receipt of the footage--CBS refuses to air the film nationally, despite intense worker demand. The Associated Press is following the CBS lead, refusing to run the story on the wires, although WTOL sent it to AP's Columbus bureau and calls from workers have forced AP in Columbus to forward the story to New York. The major national press is complicit in Woodcock's terror drive against the working class--and American workers know it.

Working Class Counterattack

The extraordinary level of working-class motion and worker response to yesterday's assault stems from political workers' identification of the attacks on the Labor Party with the vicious slave-labor drive against the entire class in factories, ghettos, and unemployment centers across the country. Industrial workers grasp the relation of Woodcock's implementation of concentration camp conditions in the plants. The American working class knows that an attack on the Labor Party is Rockefeller/Woodcock's attack on the political rights and right to exist of the entire class in this depression.

Workers across the country are demanding of the press that this international news be covered. Five CBS affiliates in the Midwest have complained to New York CBS that they are being "harassed" by scores of calls from angry workers. The press and UAW bureaucrats are feeling the heat of working-class anger as never before. Today local 1435 president Sedlock is "sorry" about the assault--abjectly apologizing to workers throughout the region and state calling him! One UAW official has his lawyer answering his home phone! Workers are putting the heat on any member of the press, police, or UAW bureaucracy conspiring to revive witchhunt terror against the working class.

In Toledo the Labor Party is seeking injunctions and damages against the UAW and the police. The local ACLU is taking the case. Although to date the police have refused to accept assault charges against the goons, Monday, October 7, the Toledo prosecutor will view the film footage of the incident and the Labor Party will demand acceptance of the charges.

In Buffalo the Labor Party is petitioning for an extension of the injunction already won against the Buffalo police to apply to Hamburg, New York and Tonawanda, New York, sites of yesterday's harassment and arrests.

Successful Labor Party rallies are in progress throughout the Midwest--since yesterday, numbers of workers have joined the Labor Committees.

Last night a worker on the night shift at the Toledo Chrysler plant where the attack occurred called the Labor Party office to report that the plant was buzzing and to ask for a briefing on Labor Party "plans to take over." Wednesday, Oct. 9, the Labor Party will hold another electoral rally outside the plant at the site where yesterday's attack took place.

ROCKY RIPS OFF DETENTE MASK;
BLAMES SOVIET UNION FOR FOOD CRISIS

Oct. 5 (IPS)--This week Nelson Rockefeller ripped off his mask, unleashed his full "Critical Choices" fascist program, and tore the tattered cover off the charade of Soviet-U.S. detente. Speaking Oct. 3 to a select audience of United Press International editors in San Francisco, Rocky lied that the Soviets "conned the U.S." on the 1972 wheat deal because the Soviet system of Communism "doesn't work, but capitalism does." Now, Rockefeller said, "we have to figure out how it (capitalism) is going to keep on working; we have to learn to make the necessary critical choices that are necessary."

The UPI editors don't have to guess at these critical choices. Rocky treated them to a parade of his flunkies from the Commission on Critical Choices:

*Henry Diamond, the Executive Director of the Commission, ranted: "The era of cheap energy is over, the era of cheap food is over, the government in the wings must come forward." Diamond flatly instructed the assembled editors to brainwash the public into choosing fascism.

*Wilson Riles, California Superintendent of Education and Critical Choices Commissioner, added: "The era of educating our children is over." Then one of Rocky's pet physicists laid out Rocky's slave-labor program for primitive coal gassification, saying that energy and "national defense" are inseparable.

Rockefeller's speech itself was significant for his vicious attempt to pin the starvation of millions on the Soviets. This deliberate "news leak" was designed to brief UPI on Rocky's revival of cold war sabre-rattling.

Because of the scheduled collapse of world finance during September and October, and the scheduled turnover of governments throughout Western Europe in the coming weeks, Rocky is bringing his gameplan for world rule into the open. He is targetting the enemy--the Soviet Union and the international working class.

In a press conference following his speech, Rockefeller bared his fangs at American workers: "I don't care how many letters and calls come into Congress opposing my nomination, just so long as I get to be Vice President."

Outside the hall a few hundred countergang CIA-"leftists" demonstrated. A New Solidarity reporter casually asked one of the six policemen on guard whether he thought a half-dozen cops were enough to hold back the demonstrators if they rushed the hotel. "Don't worry," the cop replied, pointing to the crowd, "half of them are cops, too."
