

LABOR PARTY CAMPAIGN STALLS CIA/MURPHY COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, D.C. Jan. 11 (IPS)-- When the 94th Congress convenes on Jan. 13, the U.S. Labor Party will greet it with a "Brief to Congress on the Commission on the Organization of Government for Conduct of Foreign Policy (the Murphy Commission)," released today by IPS. The Murphy Commission Brief details Nelson Rockefeller's attempt to use the current contrived scandal around the CIA as a pretext to consolidate the U.S. government into a satrapy for his supranational Trilateral Commission.

Agressive Labor Party exposure of this long-in-the-making Rockefeller move has broken the CIA's hold on the press and the controlled environment which was prepared for Congress. Labor Party organizers informed their local Congressmen that Congress itself was the immediate target of the CIA exposure and the Murphy operation. The response indicated that Congress may yet be alive as a forum and a tool for the working class.

Several Congressmen have arranged for personal meetings with the LP, either in Washington, D.C. or when they next return to their districts, and almost every Congressman or district office contacted agreed to purchase the Murphy Commission brief. Aides in the offices of several Chicago representatives (where the LP is currently campaigning for municipal offices) and in the office of Rep. Ron Dellums (D.-Calif.) immediately called their Washington offices to pass the information on to the Congressmen. Representatives Thomas Railsback (R.-Ill.) and Mario Biaggi (R.-N.Y.) asked to meet with U.S. Labor Party representatives. Every Congressman contacted, aware of the deep Labor Party penetration in his or her district, had a similarly agitated, yet interested response.

For over a week, press circles have been equally agitated around the LP's information on the Murphy Commission. By Jan. 8, the furor created around the Murphy story, forced CIA-gutter columnist Jack Anderson to "leak" a portion of the Murphy Commission document (The Future World Environment) which had been handed to him by the Labor Party several days previously. Anderson, who did not name his source, printed one section of the document, totally meaningless in itself, and ignored the quotes which outlined the Commission's demand that the United States "cede national sovereignty to international entities which alone will be able to make and monitor the necessary decisions..." The Anderson "analysis" was picked up internationally by the major wire services and given significant coverage throughout the country.

ICLC STALLS WAR OF THE PACIFIC

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (IPS)--International Caucus of Labor Committees' exposure of the Rockefeller plan to concoct a Mideast-type war between Peru and Chile has forced Rockefeller strategists to postpone their war-mongering. Extensive briefings to all sides of the pre-fabricated conflict and to the press have seriously altered the odds against Rockefeller's rigged game, causing him to back down.

Peru's foreign minister Angel de la Flor reflected the impact of these briefings when, according to today's Washington Post, he told the press that the rumors of war all seemed to originate from newspaper stories in Washington which cited U.S. intelligence sources. "There were clear intentions at work there," he said, adding that the tensions were instigated "from the outside."

The Washington Post notes: "The tensions have eased." Peruvian officials returning to their offices after vacation report that the yellow-journalism war hysteria "suddenly" died down after mid-December, which was precisely the period the Labor Committees began the propaganda barrage as well as a flood of calls to top Rockefeller operatives themselves to let them know that the working class is not about to be fooled by a War of the Pacific hoax.

Rocky needs the cover of a war to make necessary internal and regional political and military shufflings to facilitate petrodollar recycling into labor-intensive "development" projects in the Southern Cone of South America.

SHAH BOLSTERS SADAT TO SAVE CIA'S MIDEAST ALLIANCE

NEW YORK, N.Y., Jan. 11 (IPS)--The CIA's Shah of Iran today completed a salvage mission to the beleaguered regime of Egypt's President Sadat. Amid much press fanfare the Shah offered $850 million in economic contracts to bolster the devastated Egyptian economy. Following his transfer of 20 American-made warplanes to Jordan earlier this week, the Shah reportedly discussed large-scale arms aid to Egypt and enhanced military coordination between the two countries.

This advancement of the CIA's rapidly progressing rightward turn in the Middle East represents a frantic attempt to recoup the losses incurred by the cancellation of the Brezhnev visit to Cairo. According to the NATO-connected West German newspaper Die Welt, the Shah's intention of constructing a Mideast-wide, anti-Soviet "federation of moderates" based on Saudi Arabia, Jordan, and Egypt, and also involving Lebanon, Kuwait, and Israel, is totally dependent upon the situation in Cairo. Curtly emphasizing this point, Die Welt continued: "If Sadat makes the breakthrough to a peace solution [in bilateral peace negotiations with Israel--ed.], then the path is free; if he fails, and thereby is toppled, a wave of radicalization would flood the Arabian world, before which Iran also would not be secure."

Extending his generosity into other quarters, the Shah suddenly announced an offer to supply Israel with all its oil needs if it returns the disputed Abu Rodeis oil fields in Sinai to Egypt,
