

Behind the campaign against nuclear fusion

When the editors of the Executive Intelligence Review received reports last week that Mr. Alfred P. Slaner, former chief executive for the Kayser-Roth Corporation, plans to finance the publication of a new magazine on the scientific prospects for the development of thermonuclear fusion power, we immediately investigated. Unfortunately we must report that Mr. Slaner and his associates in the venture have no intention of joining the ranks of such notable publications on atomic power as the Fusion Energy Foundation's popular Fusion magazine. Their front money will instead be used to print an antinuclear slander sheet, which we project will be dominated by the line that humanity can be saved from the destruction-and-pollution potential of fission power only through the development of solar, biomass, and other "soft" energy technologies, and the clean form of nuclear power — fusion.

A Kahn job

This bogus fusion-versus-fission formulation is now being peddled internationally by the upstate New York Hudson Institute, and Hudson's notorious doomsday strategist Herman Kahn. Over recent weeks the porcine Kahn has devoted himself overtime to foisting this disinformation line on the developing nations in particular. The Third World, however, answered Kahn's suicide energy policy proposals on Nov. 2 in the United Nations, voting in a tight bloc with the Arabs, the Soviet sector, and protechnology Western European nations to pass resolutions increasing technical assistance for nuclear power development to the developing sector and increasing the developing sector's representation in the International Atomic Energy Agency (see our ENERGY Section).

The nasty nuclear operation, however, does not end with Kahn-style proposals.

A closer look at Slaner and his former employers at Kayser-Roth has uncovered a network around these individuals that can best be described as an Israeli intelligence spy nest in the U.S. This Mossad network involves scientific espionage, assassinations, and dirty money operations, as well as black propaganda against nuclear energy. For the full story on how Slaner and a group of his cohorts in the so-called Nuclear Club of the New York Stock Exchange have functioned as Mossad's atom spy network in operations up to and including the transfer of hydrogen bomb capability to Israel, see our INTERNATIONAL section. ■

Terror against NSIPS shows impact of drug exposé

At 9 p.m. local time on Nov. 11 a squad of hooded terrorists, armed with lead pipes and tear-gas grenades, stormed the Paris bureau of New Solidarity International Press Service at 19 rue Nollet. The squad broke into the office, throwing one tear gas grenade and injuring a plainclothes police officer stationed there in response to threats received earlier. Outside the NSIPS office, 20 to 40 similarly armed and hooded thugs attempted to cordon off access to the block at the main intersection.

This attack, merely the first in a series that have unfolded over the past week, dramatizes the forces that have been put into play internationally to stop the damaging exposures by this news service, the U.S. Labor Party, and others internationally, of the control exerted by the British monarchy's Zionist and other networks over international narcotics trafficking, illegal financial operations, and terrorism. These exposures, which have circulated widely behind the scenes in European governments and other high-level circles, are threatening the vital lifelines of those British networks. The Labor Party's just-released exposé of how this same web handed U.S. H-bomb technology over to Israel, reported in this issue's INTERNATIONAL section, is upping the ante even more. Police investigators in Paris, where the only direct physical attacks have taken place so far, confirm the existence of plans by the so-called Zionist lobby to escalate such attacks internationally as a result.

What was going on in the offices of NSIPS's Paris bureau when the attack occurred was a meeting called to announce the upcoming publication in the United States of the book Dope, Inc., The World's Biggest Business, a preview of which has been published in this
