

FACTS BEHIND TERRORISM

Nuclear terrorism scenario is 'live'

In the wake of the March 28 sabotage of the nuclear power plant at Three Mile Island, readings of the "environmentalist movement" confirm what intelligence sources have described as a "live" scenario for a nuclear terrorist incident. Such an incident would serve as the pretext for a total shutdown of the nuclear industry in the United States and the enactment of the Carter Administration's plans to override all forms of constitutional government through the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

Sources inside the environmentalist movement report that there is a "tiny but very radical" core in the "greenie" groups who are studying technical manuals for nuclear power reactors and are discussing strategies for infiltrating the nuclear industry as technicians and operators in order to carry out sabotage—from the inside. This grouping has direct ties to the networks who ran the bloody antinuclear riots in Brockdorf, West Germany and Crays-Murville, France in 1977.

The nuclear terrorist scenario was spelled out in vivid detail in reports by Brian Jenkins of the Rand Corporation and David Rosenbaum, author of the 1975 MITRE Corporation report, on nuclear sabotage and terrorism; and also appears in explicit form in the 1978 book, Ultimatum: Pu 94, by Israeli intelligence operative Uri Dan. However, as Execu- tive Intelligence Review proved in the Feb. 21, 1978 issue, on technical grounds, no isolated terrorist group could possibly carry out such an incident without complicity from the National Security Council and Secretary of Energy James Schlesinger (in the United States), or equally high levels in other governments, such as the state of Israel.

The modus operandi of the April 6 terrorist attack on the Mediterranean Naval and Industrial Construction Company warehouse, a nuclear manufacturer in France, reveals how the scenario will take shape. While credit for the bombing—which destroyed components for a nuclear reactor which was being shipped to Iraq—was claimed by an unknown environmentalist group allegedly acting "to protect humanity from the dangers of nuclear radiation," French counterintelligence circles are discarding that conclusion. Instead, the French press reports that French intelligence is of the opinion that the blast was the work of a highly trained Israeli commando team, deployed by the Israeli Mossad, in order to prevent the Iraqis from obtaining nuclear energy reactors.

The environmentalist movement provides a depth of antinuclear motion in the streets and in the press to give credibility to a nuclear terrorist incident. In the next three weeks, leading up to a mass antinuclear march in Washington, D.C. on May laced grouplets, including the Crabshell Alliance in Seattle, Washington, the Shad Alliance in New York City, and the Clamshell Alliance in Boston, are planning "feeder" demonstrations.

The "new left" groupings that have been traditional political and logistical supporters of the Weather Underground, George Jackson Brigade, SLA and other terrorist gangs are now being primed to join the ranks of the antinuclear environmentalist movement. Since March 28 greenie slogans have been integrated into their "class struggle" belief structure. "Capitalism equals nuclear murder" is now a common cry throughout the Maoist, Trotskyist and other radical groups' propaganda, accompanied by assertions of mass murder committed by the nuclear industry at Middleton, Pa.

No major operation is necessary, however, to get a core of saboteurs inside the nuclear industry. The Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers Union is already on hand. The OCAW was founded by one of the leading antinuclear proponents in the U.S., Paul Jacobs, who also has connections to the terrorist command center, the Institute for Policy Studies. Since its creation, the leadership of the OCAW has supported the development of environmentalism, with OCAW executive Anthony Mazzocchi joining Barry Commoner's antitechnology Scientists' Institute for the Public Interest. Mazzocchi is also on the board of directors of the leading environmentalist policymaking body in the U.S., the Natural Resources Defense Fund. Following the Three Mile Island incident OCAW spokesmen denounced nuclear power plants as dangerous.
