

Obama Co-Conspirators Pushing T4 Genocide

The following characters were known co-conspirators in President Obama's ramming through, against the will of Congress, the T4 death-counseling regulation.

Dr. Donald Berwick: As head of the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), Berwick is in charge of administering health-care policy for the elderly and the poor. Berwick's philosophy of Nazi medical cost-cutting, under the guise of "comparative effectiveness," has been reflected through his entire career, but especially in his work with Britain's Tony Blair (1996-2003) in establishing the notorious National Institute for Health and Clinical Excellence (NICE) in Great Britain. NICE systematically denies care which it considers too expensive, resulting in higher death rates for cancers and other diseases. Sir Donald was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II in 2005, for his service to this British imperial genocide policy, and he openly praises the NICE system.

President Obama gave Berwick a recess appointment over the July 4th holiday weekend, in order to avoid an open Congressional hearing on his Nazi policies.

Rep. Earl Blumenauer: Nine-term Congressman Blumenauer (D-Ore.) is an open advocate of assisted suicide, and brags about his authorship of Section 1233 of the original Obamacare bill, which promoted the policy of euthanasia counseling. Blumenauer was instrumental in making his home state, Oregon, one of the two in the country that have legalized physician-assisted suicide.

In a posting on his personal website, Blumenauer promotes an October 1960 Harper's magazine issue which directly advocates euthanasia, and decries what they called the prevalent "irrational, phobic, and sentimental attitudes about voluntary death." Other articles in the issue sound as if they could have come from former Office of Management and Budget (OMB) head Peter Orszag, or from the President himself, in their sharp attacks on skyrocketing health-care costs and medical "waste."

Blumenauer reported on his website in 2009 that he provided the Harper's magazine to President Obama, in order to shape his thinking on health.

After Section 1233 was eliminated from Obama's health bill, Blumenauer lobbied to have it re-inserted by Executive action. He joined Sen. Jay Rockefeller (D-W.V.) in sending a letter (still kept from public view) urging that death-counseling be re-included by regulation.

Sen. Jay Rockefeller:

Rockefeller, the senior Democratic Senator from West Virginia, has campaigned openly for "end-of-life" measures which amount to euthanasia, as well as for independent agencies which could cut health-care costs. During the 2009 health-care debate, Rockefeller introduced a bill calling for a Medicare Policy Advisory Council which would be an "executive agency modeled after the Federal Reserve," with the power to implement medical cuts.

On Oct. 13, 2009, during the final debate in the Senate Finance Committee on the health-care reform bill, he bemoaned the lack of an "end-of-life" provision, saying he regretted not having "options" that would have prevented keeping his mother alive for 12 years, when he thought she should have died 6 or 7 years earlier.

Rockefeller reportedly joined Blumenauer in lobbying the Administration to sneak in the regulation on end-of-life counseling, which has now been removed.
