

The Revolution Is Underway

Revolution is in the air, but the crucial question is, what kind? Will there be the outbreak of chaos, spreading across the globe, in an orgy of destruction like the French Revolution of 1789, which keeps the global monetarist empire in control, while its subjects kill one another? Or will it be a worldwide revival of the American Revolution, in which sovereign nation-states around the globe begin to cooperate on missions worthy of mankind—from NAWAPA, to the colonization of space?

We in the LaRouche movement are clearly dedicated to the second kind, which Lyndon LaRouche and his leading collaborators are uniquely prepared to lead. But to accomplish this, in the extremely short window of opportunity in which it must be done, requires action on several different levels.

First and foremost, the American people must get their political representatives to act to remove President Obama from office. Why? Because Obama, who was installed by British financial circles to begin with, is a mentally disturbed narcissist who is psychologically, as well as politically, incapable of bucking the interests of his British masters. And those very masters are determined to destroy the United States, both through implementation of outright fascist measures like the health-care bill, and the blocking of the necessary radical break with the British bailout monetarist system.

The best way for the nation, to remove Obama would be by the invoking of the 25th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. It would be the first time that measure was invoked—but it would provide an orderly transition.

The second crucial action is also revolutionary, in the sense of overturning the current bankrupt monetary-financial system. But here, what is required is a return to the United States' original revolution in political economy, the one implemented by our Founding Father Alexander Hamilton, both in his role in bringing about the U.S. Constitution and the establishment of the American System of Political Economy. Hamilton's principles of economy, which define a credit system for economic development and the general welfare, are indispensable for saving the United States, and thus the world, from disintegration. The first steps in their implementation would be restoring FDR's Glass-Steagall, writing off trillions in gambling debts, and pumping out credit to save the states, and start reconstruction through projects like NAWAPA.

These two steps, however, are by no means sufficient to dealing with the crisis before us. For, fundamentally, we need a revolution in our whole mode of thought, and our understanding of man's relationship to the universe. We need new conceptions, revolutionary scientific conceptions, which will free us from the pessimism and entropic decay that has increasingly enveloped the earth since FDR's death—and launch a new era of progress for all mankind.

It is to this last revolution that this issue of EIR is devoted. Lyndon LaRouche's Basement Scientific Team, the same team that is actively coordinating the NAWAPA taskforce which will shape the Great Projects of the future, has devoted itself to launching the indepth discussion we all need, in order to build the future. These young researchers represent a new generation of leadership, one we so desperately need to come out of today's descent into a New Dark Age.

Don't you think it's time you joined this Revolution?
