

Criminal Negligence Demands Obama's Removal

This statement was issued April 1 by the team of six LaRouchePAC candidates for Congress. It has been slightly abridged. See www.larouchepac.com for the full text.

Ample evidence compiled by LaRouchePAC indicates that Barack Obama's anti-NASA and anti-science policy is criminal negligence which could result in the extinction of the entire human species, warranting his removal from office under the authority of the 25th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Removing crucial monitoring systems, in tandem with gutting our logistical capability to respond to emergency situations, guarantees that U.S. citizens will die. Obama isn't signing a budget, he is signing death certificates.

This is not a budgetary matter. This is negligence in the face of crises we know will happen. Human civilization is now entering the northern region of our Milky Way's galactic disk, where the most significant extinctions of life have occurred on our planet. In each case, the loss of entire families of organisms was accompanied, and perhaps generated, by intensifications of tectonic activity. Human beings have never traveled through this region of our galaxy, but are the only species that has ever existed that can understand and overcome the causes and threat of extinction.

The human species is meant to extend far beyond the confines of our planet. Our sensory organs are more than just our eyes, ears, etc. We can perceive processes which were otherwise invisible, and understand threats which were otherwise incomprehensible. Rather than expanding this extended sensorium, Obama's policy is both an assault on our limited current capabilities, as well as an elimination of crucial programs planned for the near future. Obama's recent elimination of the DES-DynI satellite system is a clear case. It was designed to provide some of the most advanced measurements of tectonic stress, which could be crucial for studying earthquake-prone areas.

This policy is not meant to save money, but to kill people. It is an explicitly anti-human policy, meant to reduce humans to just another animal confined to the face of the planet, buffeted by unknowable forces, and ultimately doomed to extinction—like every other animal. Obama's disgusting inaction regarding the 2010 crisis in Haiti, is indicative of his inability to have a moral reaction to the suffering of fellow human beings, typical of a Nero complex.

Obama's actions demonstrate his support for the stated intention of the British monarchy: the genocidal reduction of the world population on the order of billions—as Obama's choice for science advisor, John Holdren, has advocated such population reduction in the past. Taking this criminal negligence further, Obama's plans to slash the budget of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers by $900 million, and make crippling cuts to related emergency response programs, will drastically reduce the U.S. ability to respond to natural disasters.

In reality, however, unlike animals, and contrary to the opinion of Obama's Holdren, the human mind is capable of understanding these processes, and potentially controlling them:

Haiti: For up to 30 days prior to the magnitude 7.0 earthquake that struck Haiti on Jan. 12, 2010, the French Demeter satellite detected anomalous increases in ultra-low-frequency electromagnetic waves above the future epicenter, peaking at 360% higher than normal background levels. The death toll has been estimated to be 250,000 people.

Indonesia: Starting five days before the magnitude 9.3 earthquake and tsunami of Dec. 26, 2004, data from GPS satellites showed evidence of an anomalous decrease in electron content, signifying some form of precursor activity around the future epicenter. Around 230,000 people are estimated to have died.

Japan: Unpublished reports from experts performing analysis on data from the Japanese earthquake, show, beginning three days before the quake, anomalous electromagnetic activity above the future epicenter.

And we should know even more. We are behind in achieving mankind's extraterrestrial imperative—the only way we could ever be in a position to understand the threat which currently faces us. The processes threatening us here on Earth have an origin on the scale of our galaxy. How can we expect to overcome them while confined to the surface of this single planet?

In the face of such potential, coinciding with the potential for terrible disaster, these investments become more clearly a matter of human evolution or extinction. It should be clear that Obama must be removed immediately.

NAWAPA

We are now on the edge of the post-Obama era, in which it becomes possible for mankind to orchestrate an upshift in Biospheric development, starting with the NAWAPA program to re-engineer the entire Northwest water system, from Alaska down to Mexico.

LYNDON LAROCHE— LEARN FROM NAWAPA: MIND OR BODY?

Man's power to exist lies not in the things which exist, but in the process through which things, and mortal human lives, come and go, in the domain of the immortality of each soul of a very special species, mankind. . . .

NAWAPA could not be killed, because it was the immortal feat on which man's future presently depends.
